Historic:

The AMX-10 RC wheel is an armored reconnaissance vehicle, designed to replace the EBR. It was designed by the firm Giat Industries, today Nexter. It fielded service in the French army in the Hussar Regiments and Spahis in the late 1970s. It has the particularity to be an amphibious vehicle.

In the late 2000s, the new version more armored of this vehicle wheel appears: AMX-10 RCR. This is the version that is presented by Miniature Model kit.

The AMX-10 RCR loses amphibious advantage with the weight of his heavy armor.

Its main mission is the reconnaissance, with these wheels can be mounted easily and lower, the vehicle to reach a very good mobility on any terrain.

It is fitted with a 105mm gun and a machine gun AANF1 and 8x smoke grenade launchers on the turret.

The AMX-10 RCR has been used in various conflicts such as Kosovo, Gulf War, Cote d'Ivoire, Afghanistan or now in Mali.

It is used by countries such as France, Morocco and Qatar.
