Historic:

The South Lebanon Army (SLA) recovered Halftrack from Israel. This "Zahlan conversion" retains the modification Israeli: changed engine (recognizable by the flat plate, which replaces the vent engine of the vehicle in front), double door jerry can each side of the vehicle and the positioning of a cal.30, replace the windshield, side "passenger"

SLA engineers have added modifications: the roof is completely closed and has two firing positions on each side cal.30, topped itself a windshield.

This Zahlan the distinction of having on the roof, a shield-shaped "U" of a different color from the rest of the vehicle (blue). This shield is pierced by two windows shielded where installed a machine gun 7.62mm.

This vehicle is used by SLA and 90s, until its dissolution in May 2000.
