Historic:

The AMX-10 P is a French troop carrier developed by the "atelier Issy-les-Moulineaux Construction" (AMX). He is the successor of the AMX-13 VTT. The first prototypes were completed around 1968 and the first AMX-10P were delivered in 1973 to the 7th Mechanized Brigade.

The AMX-10P was equipped with a 20mm automatic gun in a turret allowing two men (the shooter and the commander) to be able to pass the head and four smoke launchers. The troop transport version presented here can board up to 8 soldiers.

For more than 40 years he was the most common tracked armored vehicle in the infantry. It is now replaced by the VBCI (Reference Model Miniature : MM-R139)

This version of AMX-10P has been used by many countries such as France, Greece, Qatar, Iraq, ....

Here, Model-Miniature presents the driving school version of the AMX-10P used to train drivers on this armored vehicle.
