Historic:

This little robot, his name Wolverine, is manufactured by Israel Military industries IMI company and is controlled remotely.

It is used primarily for demining within the Police. It is also used by the Army to explore places at risk through a surveillance camera that is equipped. This infrared camera has a very powerful zoom and can rotate 360 degrees. Wolverine can disarm or target shooting with his gun on the end of his arm with another camera.

It also has the particularity of wheel and track assembly which allows for drive on all terrains. The tracks can be removed if necessary. And with its tight boxes, it may carry survival kits and weather resistant or driving on wet or dry.

It is transported by a Ford F-550.

Some example of camouflage possible for this kit:

	Painting Tamiya
